Jack's Christmas Present.

You may talk of being cheated
Singing of being badly treated,
In your haste, in your haste,
I've received a Christmas present
That is any thing but pleasant
To my taste, to my taste.

Well, I got a little brother,
Never teased to have another,
But he's here, but he's here,
They just went ahead and bought him
And today the doctor brought him,
Wasn't that queer, yes very queer.

When I heard the news from Polly,
Then I thought it very jolly,
Can't you see, don't you see?
I supposed I could go and get him,
And then mama course would let him
Play with me, play with me.

And when I had once looked at him,
Then I said: "My sakes, is that him,"
Just that mite, tiny mite,
They said, "Yes dear, isn't he cunning,"
And I thought that they must be fun-
ning.

He's a sight, such a sight,
Ah, he isn't worth a dollar,
All he does is cry and boller,
More and more, more and more,
Won't sit up, you can't arrange him,
I don't see why pa doesn't change him
At the store, at the store.

Now we've got to dress and feed him,
And we really didn't need him,
More'n a frog, more'n a frog,
But they'll buy a baby brother
When they know I'd good-deal rather
Have a dog, have a dog.

Rainy Turner made a trip to Battle Creek today.

LONG BOY

He was just a long lean country gink
From 'way out west where the hoptoads wink;
He was six feet in his stocking feet,
And kept gettin' thinner th' more he'd eat;
But he was as brave as he was thin,
When the war broke out he got right in,
Unhitched his plow, put the mule away,
Then the old folks heard him say:

Chorus.
Good-bye, ma, good-bye, pa, good-bye, mule with your ole hee-haw,
I may not know what the war's about
But you bet, by gosh, I'll soon find out;
An', oh, my sweetheart, don't you fear,
I'll bring you a king for a souvenir,
I'll get you a Turk and a Kaiser, too,
An' that's about all one feller could do.

One pair of socks was his only load
When he struck for town by the old dirt road;
He went right down to th' public square
And fell in line with the soldiers there;
Th' sergeant put him in uniform,
His gal knit mits fer to keep him warm,
They drill'd him hard, they drill'd him long,
Then he sang his farewell song.

Chorus.

Dallas, Texas.

Special to the News.

I have just returned from Arlington and Denton, Texas. I left at 2 p. m. Saturday, 23rd. T. S. Bracken met me at the station with his Brisco and few minutes later we were out at his home five miles from Arlington, not being very stout I was very tired; and glad to get where I could rest. Sunday morning we all attended church and felt much better by doing so.

Monday morning at 9:15, Tom and Mrs. Delia Odell, one of his married daughters, Miss Callie Bracken, Archie Bracken, and I loaded into the Brisco and started to Denton County, 55 miles north, to visit our cousin, Mrs. Sefronia Cury. At 11:30 a. m. we got to Lewisville, Texas. We stopped there for a rest and to get our dinner. We left Lewisville at 1 p. m., and had about 20 miles to go to finish our journey. We arrived at Archie Cury's at about 3 p. m., where we expected to find our cousin, but she was at another of her sons. We went on there and after dividing our crowd we took Cousin Sefronia and came back to Harvey Cury's and spent the night, leaving Mrs. Odell, Miss Callie and Archie to spend the night with William Cury. We enjoyed the visit and it would be hard to find a place where one would enjoy a visit and be better entertained than with Harvey and his good wife, Beulah. As I had some very important business to see to in Dallas, I had to leave my friends and relatives and get back to Dallas. When I got here and went to the post-office to get the papers that were requiring my attention I unlocked my box and they were not there, and now it is twenty four hours later and they have not come yet.

I should secure the service of a big-footed negro or a mule to practice kicking on and use me for the kicking block for leaving a place where I was having such a nice time to attend to business that the other fellow has neglected to do his part, but such is life.

I was very sorry to see the account of the death of my old chum of boy-hood days and a very dear friend of man-hood days, W. C. Moore. He was a good, clean, christian citizen, one that will be missed by his home, his church and county. He is another good man gone, and his family has our heart-felt sorrows for their loss. We should not mourn for one that is transplanted in the happy home that God has prepared for them that is faithful to the end.

We are having nice, spring weather now. Buds are putting out and grass and vegetation are bidding winter farewell and putting on their green garb that always looks so cheerful at the close of winter. Farmers are planting corn. There is to be a big crop of corn planted, also the potato crop is being enlarged. The farmers all seem to up with their work. If they can keep a

Rising Fawn, Ga.

Special to the News.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Phillips, of Rising Fawn, entertained the young people here Saturday night with a party, having a large attendance, and a good time was reported by all.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Smith were shopping in Chattanooga Friday.

Miss Ruth Allison, who has been employed in Chattanooga for some time, spent Sunday here with homefolks, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Allison.

The Valentine social that was postponed, was given Tuesday night in the Masonic hall. Everyone present had a nice time.

Those from Rising Fawn attending the "Patriotic Rally" in Trenton, Ga., Friday, Feb. 22, in honor of our first president, Geo. Washington, were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Asa McMahan, Misses Mae Hale, Sarah Hale, Lillie Smith, Ida Bostrum, Ethelene Hale, Margaret Henderson, Mary Henderson, Louise Smith, Grace Cureton, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Cureton, and several more, of which were our Rev. J. A. Henderson and Dr. Middleton and family. The 11th Inf. Band from Camp Forest furnished lots of good music and dinner was served at noon, but it didn't look very "Hooverizing" to watch everyone eat.

"Punch" Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Smith, has returned home from school, and has now gone to Birmingham to accept a position.

Misses Emma and Bessie Pickle, of Chattanooga, spent the weekend with their parents, here.

Miss Lucile Mittleton, a student of Chattanooga High School, spent the week-end with friends and homefolks.

Miss Stella Bryson and brother, Jennings, spent Sunday in Rising Fawn with friends, but returned to Chattanooga Sunday night.

Mrs. T. F. Smith, who suffered a broken arm Jan. 12, during the icy weather, is improving fast. Gladys Tatum and Gracie Hale were shopping in Chattanooga Saturday.

Bert Smith, who is employed in Chattanooga, spent Sunday here with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Smith.

The letter from "Rookie to Maw" of last week was the best ever. Come on, whoever is writing it, for it is very interesting.

Wonder how Uncle Tom Smith of Whitwell, is by now.

Goodbye until next week.

A large number attended meeting Saturday night.

Pat Dixon and Barney Mason enjoyed themselves with some pretty girls at the show Saturday night.

Barney Mason said he saw some girls with the blues Sunday and he got so sorry for them he took the blues himself. He said he had the blues so bad that everything looked blue.

Come on, soldier boys, I like to read your pieces.

I like to read the letters from the Sweetwater girls, so come on.

Frisco Jack.

Death of Baby.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCoy, March 1, and took away from them a little jewel, the flower of their home, their baby son, nearly ten months old. We are not informed at present what ailed the little one. Just a short time ago the death angel called away their baby girl. They were bright little ones and the joy of the home. Still, God knows best. He says, "Suffer little children to come unto me," for he loves them best. It is a most heart rending thing to give our loved ones up; still, we should not mourn, but rejoice at the transfer of one from this world to the happy home God has prepared, and we know that these little ones are safe in Him.

Interment was made at the Walker cemetery the following afternoon at 3:30.

Mrs. McCoy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ross, formerly of this place, but for sometime a resident of Chattanooga.

To the bereaved parents we say, weep not, but prepare to meet those little ones gone before in a world that knows no sorrows.

We express great sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. McCoy.

A loved one from us is gone, a voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home which never can be filled. The golden gates were opened wide, a gentle voice said, "Come," and angels from the other side welcomed our loved one home. Heaven now retains our treasures; earth the lonely casket keeps, and the sunbeams long to linger where our darling sleeps. But, again we hope to meet thee when our work on earth is done, and in heaven with joy to greet thee where no farewell tears are shed.

Who'd A Thought It!

A feller stepped into the office the other day and sez "Aint the Review purty high?" Sez the editor "yep, but it haint got nothing on wood, potatoes and turnip greens." Well then sez sub, you can jist stop my paper. I like hit, the old lady likes hit and the children likes hit, but that's morn I want to put in newspapers," whereupon the editor rejoined, "Well, Mr. Ramrod haven't you been a regular subscriber ever since Old Heck was a pnp, paying your subscription each year with a load of wood?" "Yes," answered Ramrod, "but you see wood is two dollars a load now." "And so is the Review," sez the editor, "so you jist bring along the same amount of wood for the same amount of paper." "You are right," exclaimed Ramrod, by golly, its fine to be egicated—I never would have thought of that. What's good for the goose is good for the gander—jist keep the grand old paper comin', I'll bring the wood in Saturday."—Smithville Review.
